3 existing board members not requiring re-election:

- 2021 Max and Jenny elected (3 year term ends 2024) not required to restand
- 2020 Brett re-elected by rotation (will need to retire and stand for re-election at next year's AGM in 2023)

Brett Thorburn (Chairperson)

Brett Thorburn has been on the Coeliac NZ Board for over 10 years and contributed to the development of the Dining Out Programme. He was previously living in Italy where his daughter was diagnosed with coeliac disease at age 2 years old which initiated his involvement with the Italian Coeliac Society. Brett's long-term involvement in the organisation brings continued stability, knowledge, and experience in his role as Chair. In his spare time, Brett likes to explore the Hauraki Gulf or take to the hills on tramping expeditions – although most hikes are less ambitious than his successful ascent of Kilimanjaro in 2008.

Jenny Kuttel

Jenny Kuttel joined the board in 2021 and has wide-ranging business experience in industries including rail operations in New Zealand and Australia and sawmilling operations in New Zealand. She has expertise in project management, policy development and, implementation, operations management, human resources management and, management consulting services. She has been a member of CNZ since 1986 and still remembers the difference the society, made for her when she was first diagnosed. Now retired after a busy career and returned to NZ she would like to contribute to the ongoing success of the society and the work it is doing for all those with coeliac disease, dermatitis herpetiformis or, gluten intolerance. She knows there are still challenges with raising awareness across many sectors, including the medical profession and the hospitality industry. CNZ can take credit for the dramatic changes in awareness over past decades, and she would like to assist with that continuing journey.

Max Smitheram

Max Smitheram joined the board in 2021 and is a policy analyst and has his own consultancy company. He was diagnosed by biopsy in 2007 and is interested in encouraging earlier and improved diagnosis rates for all people with coeliac disease. As a coeliac for life he believes that retaining and extending our membership base and working together is critical to effective advocacy as is having a strong national voice and organisation. Max also likes to drink cold gluten-free beer - preferably at a cabaret or in a sweaty salsa joint, with his cat Dr Roosgrit or onboard a small boat! He is a supporter of the Dining out Programme and is keen to improve food and beverage labelling requirements and compliance, which would provide more selection and help keep coeliac's safe.

- 2019 Kirsty, Corinne, Rosie, elected (3-year term expires 2022 need to retire and stand for re-election this AGM)

She is the Board representative amongst the MAP group, a pharmacist by training and currently the General Manager of a health services company based in Auckland. Her journey with Coeliac NZ began in 2012 when she was diagnosed with coeliac disease in her late 20s. Despite having family members and friends with the disease, she found that the support and information she received from the organisation during those initial months helped her adjust to the new diet and lifestyle. She lives in Auckland with her food scientist husband and young children and has a passion for health and wellbeing..

Corinne Cameron (Treasurer)

Corinne has been on the CNZ board as Treasurer since 2018. Her desire to be part of the Coeliac NZ board stemmed from her family's journey into the gluten free world in 2016 when her eldest daughter was diagnosed with Coeliac Disease just prior to her fifth birthday. She believes in the positive power of a support network behind each person diagnosed with Coeliac Disease and sees Coeliac NZ playing an important part of that. She now believes it is her turn to give back and have a direct influence in the support other CNZ members receive to enable them to live healthy lives.

Rosie Jerram

Rosie Jerram was co-opted onto the CNZ board on 6 Mar 2019. In the years following her diagnosis, CNZ provided Rosie with guidance and a strong support network to help with the adjustment, motivating her to contribute to the organisation. She is particularly interested in helping young people adjust to living a full life with coeliac. Having recently graduated from Otago University, Rosie understands the curve balls that coeliac disease can throw when transitioning into young adult life. Rosie now lives in Auckland and works as a Corporate Finance Analyst.

Ben Grant

Ben Grant is originally from Balclutha, and grew up on a farm, so his core values were instilled in him early; he is an honest and hard-working team player that enjoys a challenge no matter what it may be. He has over 12 years' experience in the electrical industry, as a line mechanic, and in health and safety and management roles. Ben was diagnosed with Coeliac disease in 2018 while living in Dunedin and joined Coeliac New Zealand as a member when he moved to Auckland later that year. He became a volunteer for the Auckland region in 2019 and is looking forward to working closely with the team as a board member having been co-opted to the board in 2022. He feels the community has been a huge support for him personally and is committed to ensuring that support continues for young professionals.

Gary Peacham

Gary Peacham is originally from the UK and has lived in New Zealand for almost 15 years. He has a background in High Performance Sport and has worked for a variety of National Sporting Organisations across NZ. He is the current Sports Director for Special Olympics New Zealand where he helps support people with an intellectual disability on their sport and recreation journeys. Gary was co-opted on the board in 2022 and his motivation to join the CNZ Board comes from seeing the journey his brother-in law has had with coeliac disease over the past decade.
